Experiment-12

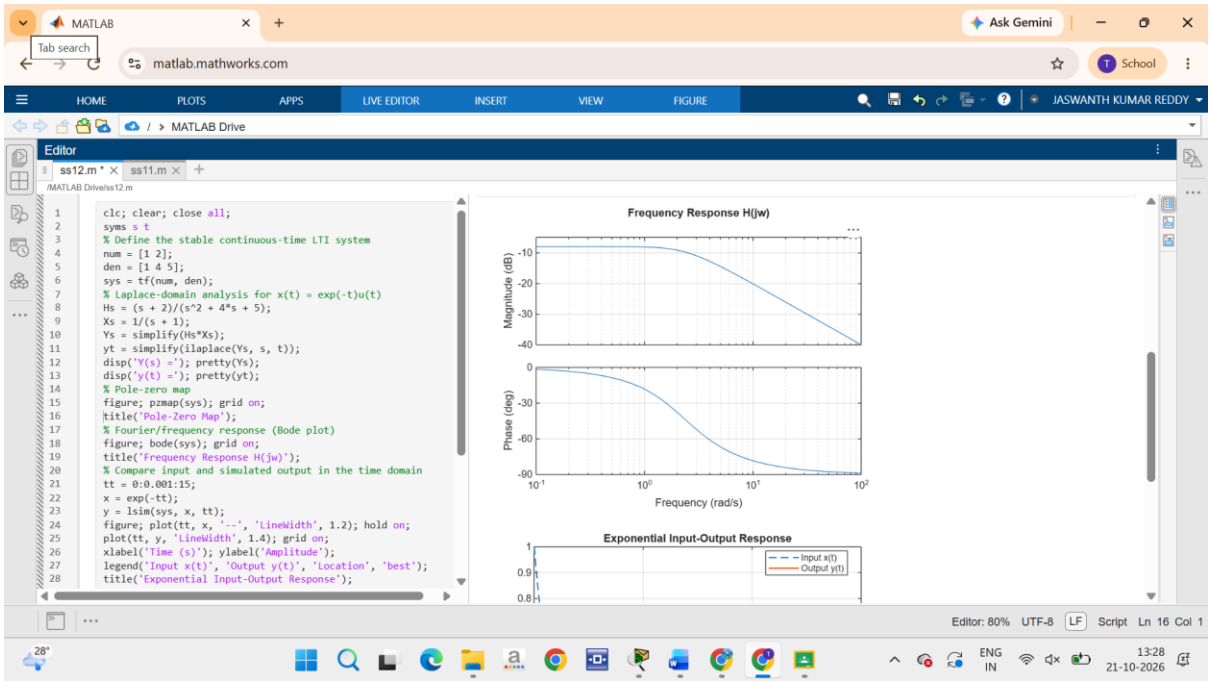

CT-LTI System Analysis Using Fourier and Laplace Transform Methods

OBJECTIVE:

To evaluate the relationship between the Laplace-domain output, Fourier-domain frequency response, time-domain behavior, and pole-based stability of a continuous-time LTI system.

Output Graphs:

Result: Continuous-time LTI systems were analyzed using Fourier and Laplace transform methods, and their responses and frequency-domain characteristics were evaluated.